

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a control information management method, a control object controlling method, a recording medium, a control
5 information management server, and a control information management system, by any one of which registered information can be collectively managed and altered in accordance with alteration
10 information, and a control object can be controlled in accordance with control information. The control information management system of the present invention includes a control information management server and a household appliance control device.
15 The control information management server produces control information for controlling control objects in compliance with an instruction from a user, collects alteration information for altering the control information, alters the control information in accordance with the alteration information, and 20 transmits the control information via a communication network. The household appliance control device receives the transmitted control information, selects one of the control objects corresponding to the received control information,
25 and controls the selected one of the control objects in accordance with the received control information.